

DEV BHOO MI // PILGRIMAGE + HIMALAYAN ROAD DOSSIER

CHAR DHAM

SCARLET PILGRIM PATH

11 DAYS / HARIDWAR - YAMUNOTRI - GANGOTRI - KEDARNATH - BADRINATH

Four sacred valleys, one high-Himalayan circuit, staged like a mythic pilgrimage mission.

MISSION SCROLL / SAMPLE EDITION

Fan-style shinobi / crimson-cloud visual direction. Not affiliated with Naruto rights holders.

MISSION PROFILE

DURATION

11 Days / 10 Nights

BEST WINDOW

Yatra opening season, weather dependent

CORE MOOD

Spiritual + Scenic

TREK FOCUS

Yamunotri + Kedarnath

START / END

Haridwar / Rishikesh

REGISTRATION

Mandatory official Yatra registration

HOW TO READ THIS DOSSIER

The schedule is cinematic but intentionally operational: every day contains a route, a pacing plan, and field intelligence. Mountain and Northeast travel is dynamic, so official road, permit, weather, health, temple, wildlife and local-administration instructions always override this sample.

CINEMATIC RULE

Build spectacle around the traveler, not at the expense of safety or local respect. The strongest visual moments come from light, scale, weather and culture - not risky stunts or forbidden access.

SHINOBI ROUTE MAP

SCHEMATIC STORYBOARD - NOT FOR TURN-BY-TURN NAVIGATION

Haridwar Arrival - Begin at the Ganga

ROUTE

Delhi / Dehradun -> Haridwar

DISTANCE

~220 km from Delhi

STAY

Haridwar

ALT

~314 m

MORNING

Arrive by afternoon if possible and complete hotel check-in, pilgrimage document review and route briefing. Keep a printed and digital copy of the Yatra registration letter and ID.

AFTERNOON

Walk the old lanes at an unhurried pace, visit a local temple if desired, and keep the first day light before the mountain drive begins.

EVENING

Attend Ganga Aarti at Har Ki Pauri from a respectful viewing position. Return early for dinner and sleep.

FIELD INTEL

The official 2026 portal states Char Dham registration is compulsory and travelers should carry the registration certificate for verification.

Haridwar to Barkot - Into the Yamuna Valley

02

ROUTE

Haridwar -> Dehradun / Mussoorie corridor -> Barkot

DISTANCE

~180-220 km / 7-9 hr

STAY

Barkot

ALT

~1,220 m

MORNING

Depart early to escape city traffic. Stop for breakfast on the way and move into the foothills with frequent controlled breaks.

AFTERNOON

Continue through winding valleys toward Barkot. Check weather and the next morning's Janki Chatti access before dinner.

EVENING

Early meal, pack a light trek bag, waterproof layer, walking pole, water, medication and darshan essentials.

FIELD INTEL

Mountain road times are elastic. Landslide management, traffic gates and pilgrim volume can add hours.

Yamunotri Darshan - The First Dham

ROUTE

Barkot -> Janki Chatti -> Yamunotri trek -> Barkot

DISTANCE

Road + ~10-12 km round-trip trek depending start

STAY

Barkot

ALT

Temple ~3,293 m

MORNING

Drive pre-dawn or early morning to Janki Chatti. Begin the climb slowly. Ponies and palanquins may be available, but choose registered services and maintain patience on narrow sections.

AFTERNOON

Complete darshan and descend before late-day mountain weather builds. Eat a warm meal after returning to the roadhead.

EVENING

Return to Barkot, hydrate, stretch and rest. Keep the night completely free of optional sightseeing.

FIELD INTEL

The climb is steep and crowded during peak periods. Footwear with grip and an early start matter more than speed.

Barkot to Uttarkashi - Reset Between Dhams

04

ROUTE

Barkot -> Dharasu -> Uttarkashi

DISTANCE

~80-100 km / 4-5 hr

STAY

Uttarkashi

ALT

~1,150 m

MORNING

A later start is reasonable after Yamunotri. Drive through the valley toward Uttarkashi and check in before lunch.

AFTERNOON

Visit Vishwanath Temple or take a calm riverside walk. Repack for Gangotri and check the current traffic system on the narrow upper valley road.

EVENING

Simple dinner and early night. This day acts as a physical reset, especially for older travelers.

FIELD INTEL

A good pilgrimage itinerary alternates strenuous days with easier transfer days; this reduces cumulative fatigue.

Gangotri - Bhagirathi Gorge and Glacier Country

ROUTE

Uttarkashi -> Harsil -> Gangotri -> Uttarkashi / Harsil

DISTANCE

~200 km round trip from Uttarkashi

STAY

Uttarkashi or Harsil

ALT

Gangotri ~3,100 m

MORNING

Leave early via Harsil. Stop briefly in the valley for tea and acclimatization, then continue to Gangotri.

AFTERNOON

Darshan and a gentle riverside walk near the Bhagirathi. Do not turn a temple day into an unplanned high-altitude trek.

EVENING

Return before dark. If using Harsil as the night halt, enjoy the quieter valley and reduce driving; otherwise return to Uttarkashi.

FIELD INTEL

Weather and traffic controls can change the timing of the Gangotri road. Treat official police and district instructions as authoritative.

Uttarkashi to Guptkashi - Long Himalayan Transfer

ROUTE

Uttarkashi -> Tehri / Srinagar -> Rudraprayag -> Guptkashi

STAY

Guptkashi

DISTANCE

~220-260 km / 9-11 hr

ALT

~1,320 m

MORNING

Start before sunrise with packed breakfast. This is a long transfer across river confluences and mountain ridges.

AFTERNOON

Lunch around Srinagar or Rudraprayag depending traffic. Continue toward Guptkashi and avoid unnecessary roadside delays late in the day.

EVENING

Check in, prepare Kedarnath daypack, confirm the next morning's transport to Sonprayag/Gaurikund and any slot or queue-token requirements.

FIELD INTEL

This is one of the itinerary's fatigue traps. A professional plan should include two drivers or regulated rest if the vehicle duty window is long.

Kedarnath Ascent - The Stone Temple Above the Valley

ROUTE

Guptkashi -> Sonprayag -> Gaurikund -> Kedarnath trek

DISTANCE

Road transfer + ~16-18 km trek one way

STAY

Kedarnath

ALT

~3,583 m

MORNING

Transfer very early to Sonprayag, complete local transport formalities, and reach Gaurikund. Start walking in the cool hours with a slow sustainable rhythm.

AFTERNOON

Continue the climb with regular water and food stops. Weather can change rapidly. Check into your Kedarnath accommodation before darshan rather than carrying all bags around.

EVENING

Temple darshan and, conditions permitting, a quiet evening view of the snow peaks. Keep exposure to cold controlled and sleep early.

FIELD INTEL

Helicopter services are weather dependent and should never be the only plan. Book only through official/authorized channels and keep a road/trek contingency.

Kedarnath Dawn - Descend to Guptkashi

ROUTE

Kedarnath -> Gaurikund -> Sonprayag -> Guptkashi

DISTANCE

~16-18 km descent + road

STAY

Guptkashi

ALT

Back to ~1,320 m

MORNING

Wake before sunrise for a quiet temple atmosphere or early darshan if permitted. Start descending while legs are fresh.

AFTERNOON

Reach Gaurikund, transfer through Sonprayag and return to your hotel. Expect the descent to be hard on knees; walking poles help.

EVENING

Hot meal, warm shower and complete rest. Do not schedule another sightseeing circuit.

FIELD INTEL

Keep one light bag at Guptkashi and carry only essentials to Kedarnath; this materially improves trek comfort.

Guptkashi to Badrinath - Alaknanda Route

ROUTE

Guptkashi -> Chopta / Karnaprayag corridor ->
Joshimath -> Badrinath

STAY

Badrinath

DISTANCE

~200-230 km / 8-10 hr

ALT

~3,133 m

MORNING

Depart early and follow the officially open route toward Joshimath. Roadworks or controlled traffic windows may affect the exact path and timing.

AFTERNOON

Reach Badrinath before evening if possible, check in and dress warmly. Walk only gently after the long transfer.

EVENING

Attend darshan and absorb the dramatic Nar-Narayan mountain setting. Keep cameras respectful and follow temple photography rules.

FIELD INTEL

Avoid building a minute-by-minute Badrinath arrival plan; buffer protects against mountain-road variability.

Badrinath and Mana - Then Down to Rudraprayag

10

ROUTE

Badrinath -> Mana (if open) -> Joshimath -> Rudraprayag

STAY

Rudraprayag / Srinagar

DISTANCE

~160-190 km / 7-9 hr

ALT

Descend below ~1,000 m

MORNING

Early darshan if desired, breakfast, then a short visit toward Mana only if road/access rules allow. Keep the visit brief because the return drive is long.

AFTERNOON

Descend via Joshimath and the Alaknanda valley. Stop at a safe confluence viewpoint rather than rushing between every Panch Prayag.

EVENING

Check in at Rudraprayag or Srinagar for a more relaxed final day. Celebrate completing all four Dhams with a calm dinner.

FIELD INTEL

After multiple high-altitude days, descending and sleeping lower usually improves recovery.

Rudraprayag to Rishikesh / Haridwar - Close the Circuit

11

ROUTE

Rudraprayag -> Devprayag -> Rishikesh / Haridwar

DISTANCE

~140-170 km / 5-7 hr

STAY

Departure / optional Rishikesh

ALT

~340 m

MORNING

Drive downstream toward Devprayag and stop at a safe formal viewpoint to see the Bhagirathi-Alaknanda confluence.

AFTERNOON

Reach Rishikesh or Haridwar with enough time for onward rail, road or airport travel. If you have a late departure, use a day room rather than sitting exhausted in transit.

EVENING

Trip end. Keep one extra hotel night if connecting to an important international or long-haul flight the next morning.

FIELD INTEL

A weather buffer after the Yatra is valuable during monsoon and shoulder-season travel.

TRAVEL INTEL

REGISTRATION

Uttarakhand Tourism's 2026 official portal states online Char Dham registration is open and compulsory; travelers should carry the registration certificate and complete verification at destinations.

HEALTH

Warm layers, personal medication, rain protection, walking support and valid ID are essential. Elderly travelers and those with medical conditions should get individualized medical advice before strenuous high-altitude trekking.

ROAD REALITY

Do not treat map distance as normal highway timing. Weather, landslides, local traffic gates, parking controls and pilgrim volume frequently alter schedules.

RESPECT

This is a living pilgrimage, not a movie set. Keep noise, drone use and camera behavior within local and temple rules.
